Rocks

Rocks, Oct. 27.- We have been enjoying some beautiful autumn weather. Farmers are busy with their work.

The crowd was small at the Training Union meeting at Mt. Nebo Church on last Monday night.

It was a rainy night on Tuesday night of last week, but the attendance was very good at the monthly church meetings held here.

Mrs. Bertha Shelton, of Pamplin spent a few days last week with her mother, Mrs. Carl Shelton, who was quite sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McIntosh and children, of Evergreen, who spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roach, have returned to their home.

Mrs. D. R. Inge spent Saturday at Pamplin with Mrs. L. M. Southall and Mrs. Lizzie P. Robinson.

Mrs. Walter Ranson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ranson and family to a home-coming at the Piney Ridge Church last Sunday.

Miss Patsy Farrar, of Evergreen was overnight guest of Ruby Richardson on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cobbe, Jr. have moved into their new home. We welcome them in our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ranson and Mrs. M. H. Marks and Barbara Sims attended the funeral of Walter Phelps near Appomattox Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Richardson received word from their son, Otis last week that he was getting along fine in Korea.

The Training Union Study Course started tonight. Rev. W. H. Elder is teaching the Adult Class. Mrs. Toby Inge is teaching the Intermediates, and Mrs. Loyd Richardson is teaching the Junior Class.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dickerson, of Lynchburg were visiting here Sunday.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Jennie Almond and her family in the loss of her home by fire Saturday morning. Very few things were saved.

A number from here attended the home-coming at Falling River Baptist Church near Brookneal Sunday.

Mrs. E. N. Almond, of Lynchburg is spending awhile with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Anderson.

Mrs. Walter Ranson was visiting Mrs. Kenneth St. John at Evergreen awhile Friday night.

Richwood

Richwood, Oct. 28.- "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call upon him while he is near." -Isaiah 55:6.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mann visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Reed and family.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ferguson and daughters, Judy and Jane, and Mrs. G. P. Brannan and daughters, Val and Georgie Belle were the dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Wooldridge.

Mrs. Dillard Reed is on the sick list at this time.

G. P. Brannon was in Lynchburg Thursday on business.

J. A. Blazer is spending some time at his home here.

A. B. Hunter Jr. spent the week-end with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Watts have returned to Washington, after spending some time here.

Oakville

Oakville, Oct. 28.- Mr. and Mrs. Murrell Jordan and daughter, Karen, were dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moore on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lewis and children visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lewis Saturday afternoon.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to the Phelps family in the passing of Mr. Walter Phelps. He will be missed not only by adults, but by small children, too. He drove the school bus for twenty-nine years.

Mrs. Louis Moore and Mrs. Clarke Moore visited Mrs. Ocie Moore at Brookneal on Wednesday. We are sorry to say she is no better.

Mrs. Maude Martin is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Bussey in Roanoke this week.

We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Dick Seay. They have a little baby girl, born at the Virginia Baptist Hospital Oct. 24. Mrs. Seay is the daughter of Mrs. Rachel Moore, of Gladstone.

Little Karen Jordan, of Lynchburg is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moore this week while her mother is being operated on in Virginia Baptist Hospital.

Play safe — drive carefully.

In Fashion Now

This season the most fashionable head will feature a well-shaped cut —the tidier and smoother, the better. Gone from the fashion picture is the dandelion cut or the raggle-taggle hair. At least, the smoothly-cut coiffures are being pushed in the most established salons.

This trend is so new — it seems the careless look has just caught on over the country to any extent —that it will take a while to see if it really goes over. Personally, we find the "every-hair-in-place" look too demanding. In the first place, it demands a youthful face — and there is just so much one can do about this.

It demands marvelous carriage and a good throat and shoulder line. The profile should pass muster. Hair can be such a softening agent for the face, neck and set off the shoulders.

Since curl is not employed, shine and texture will be of great importance. The new corrective hair sprays will be a "must" to the lady who tries one of the new styles. The hair does not fix each hair in its proper position, shines it up and completely and magically disappears.

Earrings, naturally, come in for more importance than with the more full - blown coiffure. Drop earrings will be smart for the young and middle years. The more mature woman will like to choose a slighty larger earring than usual, with an upward tilt.

Beads are good, and in the case of costume jewelry, they are worn away from the throat slightly.

Watch that you do not wear too much costume jewelry this season. The head is kept small and neat, and with too many dangles you will run the risk of looking like —"here comes the jewelry counter!"

Health and Beauty

Far more than anything else (other than your complexion) your teeth are responsible for your good looks. It is true that people with very good teeth and beautiful are apt to take them for granted and even abuse them.

Your teeth are responsible for the younger or older contour of your face. They determine the pugnacious jaw or the sadly receding chin. They even determine whether you will develop the aging habit of pulling your upper lip down over your teeth when you smile.

Many older people who have had unsightly teeth all their lives have to be taught to smile after a dentist has capped their teeth. If you don't think an attractive smile is important, just think how many songs have been written about the effects of a smile.

We are told the emotional benefits of cosmetic dentistry are so startling that the capping of unsightly teeth has actually helped emotionally disturbed people get well more rapidly. Few of us have not had the experience of having a friend say that they could not understand why mother and father did not do something about their teeth when they were young.

Dentists and orthodontists have all kinds of newly developed techniques up their sleeves. Today implanting, transplanting and replanting teeth will soon be the order of the day. Quite often dental cosmetics are the results of complex procedures. However, in many cases the answer to a problem may be quite simple. For example, front teeth which are too long for an attractive appearance or proper bite, can be skillfully filed to proper size in a matter of minutes.

Your teeth may not be perfect, but you like them just as they are. If this is lucky you, all you will need to do is to take proper care of them with regular dentist visits and proper foods.

Subscription rate: $2.00 a year; payable in advance.

Abbitt Addressed Junior Woman's Club

The Appomattox Junior Woman's Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. S. R. Lawson on Tuesday, Oct. 28. Mrs. K. E. Coleman, president, presided at the business meeting. The ways and means committee announced that the money they made from candy they are selling will go towards the band uniforms. Mrs. Morton Ferguson is chairman of the "dental care project" for underprivileged children, which the club is sponsoring. Three new members were accepted into the club: Mrs. Jim Cobbs, Mrs. Roy Wilhoit, and Miss Faye Tignor. Mrs. Mary W. George gave a review on the club's constitution and by-laws. Guest speaker for the evening, Rep. Watkins M. Abbitt, was introduced by Mrs. Ben Marshall, program chairman. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Morton Ferguson and Mrs. S. R. Lawson.

Excerpts from Mr. Abbitt's address follow:

"All of us must realize that although we as citizens of a great republic have many freedoms and privileges never heard of in many parts of the world today, our citizenship carries with it many obligations not found elsewhere. Citizenship brings duties as well as rights. A country can be no stronger, no more intelligent, no more just and no more righteous than are its citizens. We must be ready, willing and able to pull our part of the load, which means that we must take advantage of all available opportunities of training and developing our skills, knowledge and talents to assure maximum, successful achievement of our undertakings.

"We must realize that there is no such thing as something for nothing. We will get out of life that which we put into it.

"Our greatest fault, in my opinion, is conceit, over-estimating our own importance; greed and avarice. The greatest attributes are unselfishness; desire to be of service; and humbleness.

"We often wonder what is the major factor responsible for the greatness of America. To me the answer is clear. Every worthwhile human accomplishment is the result of man's effort to improve himself, put into p-ay by faith — that added sense without which we never rise above our weaknesses and our fears of the unknown. Faith is the one great influence responsible for America.

"The fate of the wrld depends largely on America. This means that a very real responsibility rests on the American people as a whole and on every American as an individual. One way is to secure for ourselves all knowledge possible and all the training available in preparing to assume our role in society.

"In any person's life — in the progress of any organization, any community or any nation — there always have been and probably will always be obstacles in the paths ahead. Those obstacles are not there to halt the parade of progress —they are to be surmounted and overcome. Like the roadbuilder who must cut a pass through the mountains, we must meet our obstacles square ahead, crush them to bits as the roadbuilder crushes the mountain boulders and use the peebles to pave the way for those who will follow us.

"We owe a tremendous debt of gratitude, not only to the great men and women who have made America but to the young men and young women who in the past years have stood on the threshold of adult life and determined in their hearts and proposed in their minds that they were going to make something of themselves. They had faith in God; they had vision, courage, and determination and if you will aspire to attain these splendid attributes then your future will be brigat and fruitful.

"Anything worth baving is worth working for. Remember — nobody owes you a living. You must earn your own way. We must turn our backs on the philosophy that the government owes us a living. We must support the government and not the government support the people.

"If we are to remain strong, if we are to survive as a democracy, we must cast aside this philosophy and retain the principles of individual initiative and the private enterprise system which has made this country great and brought it to the leadership of the world."
